

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

VIRTUALAGILITY ELECTS PATRICK W. GROSS TO ITS BOARD OF ADVISORS

Prominent executive joins team advising VirtualAgility

Washington, DC, July 2006 -- VirtualAgility, the Boston-based software company, today announced that Patrick W. Gross of Bethesda, MD has joined its Board of Advisors. He is Chairman of the Lovell Group, a business and technology advisory and investment firm; he is an advisor to a half dozen venture-funded technology firms.

Mr. Gross co-founded AMS, a technology development and systems integration firm in 1970. He served as Principal Executive Officer and Managing Director of AMS until 2002. He is also a director of several public companies: Capital One Financial Corporation, Career Education Corporation, Mobius Management Systems, Inc., and Liquidity Services, Inc.

“Being able to draw on Pat Gross’s acumen and experience is a double advantage for us,” said Stuart Rudolph, president of VirtualAgility. “His knowledge of the systems integration market is vast and his guidance will be invaluable. He also brings an exceptional talent for helping companies succeed.”

For his part, Mr. Gross sees significant potential for VirtualAgility’s browser-based collaboration solution, which is already in use by federal agencies. “VirtualAgility will soon be the gold standard for enabling planning, action and coordination across jurisdictions,” he said. “In a world of solutions that centralize control, VirtualAgility’s user-optimized approach is unique and practical.”

About VirtualAgility

VirtualAgility continues to apply its robust line of WorkCenter solutions to the need for improved situational awareness and coordination within and among agencies to organize, plan and track mitigation, preparation, response and recovery activities. To achieve the next level of virtual agility, collaboration and information sharing, VirtualAgility can be laid over existing “stovepipe” solutions without disrupting day-to-day operations. VirtualAgility WorkCenter delivers easy- to-use, quick-to-install solutions for creating interoperability and business continuity in government and industry.

PR Contact: Janet Ahlgren
866.721.7756
info@virtualagility.com